

Bike racks in the Fourth Church neighborhood are shown with numbers indicating the number of bikes per location. There are also sign posts and fences all over the area to which bikes could be locked. If you're a city-dwelling biker, you know you should always lock your bike, and check any fence to see if locking your bike to the fence is prohibited. If you're biking in from one of the suburbs to Fourth Church, first, CONGRATULATIONS! Second, see note about locks and fences.
